ELLE ADVERTORIAL

CLEAN LAB FAB

What happens when nature meets a biological scientist with an obsession for safe beauty? A first for your skin...

For a long time we had to pick sides: toxin-free beauty went to one corner of the bathroom cabinet and serious skincare to the other. Age-proofing, especially, was a toss-up between trusting the ingredients we put on our faces and getting fast, lab-proven results. The game-changer came from clean science. Terri Vinson, a biological scientist and cosmetic chemist, launched her Synergie Skin line by fusing natural ingredients she knew could really retexturise, firm and brighten skin – with science she knew was safe. "A clean science philosophy means all our products are highly active but free from questionable or harmful ingredients," Vinson says. It's all certified cruelty-free, too. In control of every step from big idea to bottling, Vinson stands behind the ethics of every formula. Next-level cosmeceuticals – no compromises necessary. Just how we like it. Discover more at synergieskin.com

SKINSURANCE POLICY

Charged with 21 per cent zinc oxide, a powerful, natural anti-inflammatory and broad spectrum UVA/UVB shield. A green tea- and vitamin E-powered antioxidant moisturiser. ÜberZinc, $115, SYNERGIE SKIN

HYDRATION STATION

The essential serum packed with 13% niacinimide, or vitamin B3, is a cosmeceutical powerhouse to hydrate, brighten pigmentation, enhance clarity and control excess oil. Vitamin B, $115, SYNERGIE SKIN

BEAUTY BRAINS FIVE MINUTES WITH CLEAN SCIENTIST AND SYNERGIE SKIN FOUNDER TERRI VINSON

Each morning 1 ... cleanse in the shower with Synergie Ultracleanse. I then apply SuperSerum+ mixed with Pure C crystals. I wear our MineralWhip as my day makeup – it protects from UVA that gets through my car and office windows and blue light from screens.

I keep fit with ... a vibration plate trainer and a 15-minute workout with kettle bells every day. I used to be a running junkie but that took its toll on my legs, so I prefer long walks whenever I have the chance.

To relax 1 ... oil paint. I manage to lose hours in front of a canvas on weekends. It's my way of getting into the zone, my alternative to yoga. I also love whipping up new 'formulations' like walnut and fruit loaves, frozen yoghurt and superjuices in the kitchen. When I need a little extra love ... I use Synergie Masquerase as an overnight sleeping mask. Baby skin for days!

TURN BACK TIME

An epigenetic, ageprevention serum that, fusing neuropeptides with marine and botanical actives, affects the way genes produce collagen. Works to relax lines and repair DNA. SuperSerum+, $159, SYNERGIE SKIN

SYNERGIE IS K I N

CLEAN SCIENCE